DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed May 8, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant's argument on page 10 pertain to the particular order the phase controlling region, second region and the first region are coupled, where the phase control region provides switching between the polarization modes. The cited reference, Hiroki discloses a different order for coupling the first region, phase control region and the second region, where the phase control region provides switching between the polarization modes. Therefore, having a similar device with similar regions providing the same function of switching between polarization modes would have been an obvious design choice, to rearrange the order of the regions, for any person having ordinary skill in the art because the device regardless of the order of the regions will provide switching of the polarization modes. Furthermore, applicant has failed to demonstrate the criticality of the specific claimed order of the regions, if unexpected superior results of the claimed order of the regions are known then applicant's attention is directed to MPEP 716.01 and requested to submit an affidavit or declaration according to 37 CFR 1.132, as evidence for the unexpected superior results.

Rejection of claims 10-24 pertaining to the 35 USC 112 rejection has been withdrawn.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 10-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hiroki (PN 5,757,840).

Hiroki discloses a semiconductor laser which may be used in an optical communication system for transmitting a signal from a transmitter to a receiver through an optical transmission line, wherein the polarization mode of output light from the above semiconductor laser is modulating between transverse electric (TE) and transverse magnetic (TM) polarization modes by controlling a current injected into the semiconductor laser, only the output light in either the TE mode or the TM mode is selected by selecting means to create an amplitude-modulated signal, and the amplitude-modulated signal is transmitted through an optical transmission line, see column 2. Figure 8 illustrates a similar arrangement, as applicant's claimed laser, having three regions a first region (125a) with a diffraction grating, a second region (125b) with a diffraction grating and a phase control region (124) where all three regions are serially coupled. The TE mode and TM mode can be separated from each other by their threshold current when current is injected into the phase control region see column 5. The coupling coefficients for the polarization modes will deviate from normal values by the injection of current into the phase control region, see column 6.

Art Unit: 2828

FIG.8Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
